Closer Censorship

The provincial government opens up a wide and vexatious question with the announcement that a stricter censorship will be imposed on all picture films shown in Alberta.

If there is to be censorship at all, that is to say if the government of Alberta is to assume responsibility for the influence affecting Alberta children and Alberta people, it is only reasonable that all films and not just a part of them, should be brought under the censorship. Whether the films are of 16 mm. size or larger and whether they emanate from the National Film Board or from Hollywood the same rules should apply to all.

There is surely no argument about that. Also, aside from the undoubted fact that the best censorship is usually the least censorship, the flood of propaganda of all kinds is so great that the government must assume some responsibility some anxiety about its responsibilities.

One must have great confidence, of course, in the public taste, while many have not returned constitute a very sound basis of judgment. But the public support of any form of entertainment cannot be expected to be a guide to that entertainment's worth unless the public has a full opportunity of choice. That is to say, public support of any entertainment comes with no benediction upon that entertainment if it happens to be the only entertainment available.

It would be absurd to say, however, that the Alberta public lacks the power of choice. The excellent films are shown in the theatre, of this province. Intelligent audiences can make their own choice. The government's role is to guide, not to restrict, and to ensure that the public has a full opportunity of choice.

Not are Alberta people so stupid as to fail to recognize propaganda when they see it—only by the fact that it is obviously mendacious and untruthful.

The foregoing, of course, applies only to adult entertainment. The government's responsibility with regard to children's entertainment is much more grave. For children have not the experience to judge intelligently. Quite definitely, harmful material is not to be put on celluloid should not be put within their reach.

But here again, the remedy may not lie entirely in censorship. The provincial secretary, Hon. A. J. Hoek, complains of the quality of music made available to children. He appears to think, and we agree with him, that the so-called "hot" music is a bad influence on children. But the solution does not lie in banning these songs. The solution lies in making the music better music available to the public. For it has been shown, in actual experiments in the United States, that when children are taught to appreciate good music they will turn of their own accord from "jazz".

What is being done, then, to promote the facilities for better music and better entertainment, in such centres as Edmonton, for instance?

The answer lies in the fact that the Philharmonic Society has been organized in Edmonton, and the Celebrity Series is housed in a church. There is no theatre in this city available for the use of the Philharmonic Society. Productions now beginning to tour from England and the United States.

Or how much is it to talk about strict censorship when absolutely no effort at all is being made to provide facilities for that entertainment which the public has a right to have and which should sharpen public discrimination?

Our Biggest Export Industry

Fifteen per cent more men than ever were employed in Canada forest last year. Average were also higher than before, the importance of forest work as a factor in the industrial activity of the country.

Averaged over a long term, more export dollars are brought into Canada through the sale of forest products than through any other type of exports with the exception of gold. The pulp and paper industry alone exports products worth $775,000,000 per year.

Canada's timber lands are a "gold mine" of national wealth. Timber, in fact, is the "mine" money" run out, not its output shrinks. If we take care of it, it supplies after years, are reproductive. They will produce themselves year after year, if they get a fair chance.

The demand for these products is greater than it ever has been. In fact, it is greater ten years hence than it is now. Forestry experts and lumbermen are agreed on that. There is no threat that substitutes will replace timber or wood-pulp. The uses for tree-fibre are multiplying. Many of the new uses are in the building and industrial operations come from wood itself, or have that as their base.

The moral is obvious to a child. Our timber resources are too valuable to be neglected or wasted. They are vital to the welfare and content, employment and income of the nation. There is no reason why a hundred years from now Canada may not still rank as one of the world's great sources of forest products for men and wages for thousands of people.

The Dominion needs a forestry policy, scientific, positive, aggressive, aimed and directed to perpetuate the "mine" of timber. At present we have let policies be made for each province and one for the federal authority. The result, as usual, is a patchwork of policies, which is no different. It is not a forestry policy. The forests are dwindling, because there is no single authority which will be responsible for maintaining and protecting them.

While the Dominion and the provinces are discussing the future of their jurisdictional fields attention should be given to this matter of putting the forests under some plan which would not exploit them for revenue by neglecting to protect and perpetuate them.

The Quicker Way

Premier Garson recalls that when Manitoba, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick were negotiating agreements with the Dominion they were assured that they could have the most favorable terms which might be subsequently granted to any other province.

This being the case, Ottawa would do well to repeat this assurance, now that the New Brunswick government seems to have overlooked it. That would be the easiest and quickest way to head off what may become a general clamor for revision, and thus involving a fresh start and a piecemeal re-making of each agreement.

If the allegedly more favorable features of the British Columbia bargain are automatically extended to the other five, this would save time, bother and bother.

It would also avoid the possible alternative—that of calling another Dominion-provincial conference and giving Premier Dewar and Premier Duguid another opportunity to tell the whole project and blame the Dominion for the delay.

These two gentlemen made clear long ago that they do not want to negotiate. All they want to do is to get the political effect of their articles have been interesting and up to date, probably harmless in the vote-chasing sense. But there is no reason why all Canada should have to wait while they talk some more.

The better way is to extend the B. C. concessions to the other agreeing provinces according to arrangement and as a matter of fairness.

Nanking to Washington

General George Marshall will not be going back to China, which he has been expected to do, after he left President Truman about the failure of his mission there. Failure seems to be the correct word for the civil war going on with no prospect of ending and no certainty that the end will be.

China has lost the services of a friend who spent more than a year in a bootless and thankless attempt to bring peace to its tortured people. And world interests which are involved in the restoration of the ageless empire to peaceful existence are also disappointed.

But his experience in China should prove useful to the General as he takes on the job of being the American representative to the ill-health. At least China was a good school in which to learn patience and dealing with Moscow and Communist China, and his Communist opponents.

The change of foreign secretaries does not involve any change in the American foreign policy. This is officially stated, and there is no reason to doubt, Mr. Byrnes did not make this policy. He was the one who was in charge as dealing with Chiang Kai-Shek and his Communist opponents.

His appointment is popular among Congressmen and newspaper editors, but it means something. It was sprouting hopes anywhere that the United States would weaken in its stand for democracy. If there have been fears of weakening, these can be dismissed. Only in Congress means a united front from above.

How successfully the military leader will fill the place of the career diplomat is not foreseen. But it is a great advantage that Mr. Byrnes was an exceptionally outspoken diplomat. His predecessor is not likely to be less blunt or less resolute.

Looking Backward

1887: 60 Years Ago

The list of new buildings and improvements in Edmonton is a long one. It includes the new railway and during a comparatively dull time. While a large amount of work has been done, several things have been done that have already arisen from that time as the faintest trace of speculation in the work. It was required, it was done and it was paid for.

If there is one industry more than another which is peculiarly suited to North Alberta it is dairying, and yet this fall there have been reports of dairymen who have been driven by merchants for home consumption. Merchants' say it is the farmer's fault who won't make the milk, but the fact is that the merchants with the east, and the farmers say the merchants won't give them a fair price for what they do produce.

Dangers of Plenty

IT IS HARD FOR US HARPER BROS. MILA IS JUST HOW LUCKY we are to live on this continent and not in Europe. How fortunate we are that our fathers have seen and courage enough to shake the dust of the old continent off their feet.

WHAT WE MIGHT consider too is the fact that we have millions of people who are starving in the streets of Europe. It is not only the fact that we have millions of people who are starving in the streets of Europe. It is not only the fact that we have millions of people who are starving in the streets of Europe.

IN EUROPE, recovery from the effects of the war is being delayed by the fact that the years of short rations have robbed them of the ability to eat that it is just physically impossible for them to perform the work necessary to rebuild their cities, to mine the coal, to work the land.

IN BRITAIN food is being sent to the streets of Europe. It is not only the fact that we have millions of people who are starving in the streets of Europe. It is not only the fact that we have millions of people who are starving in the streets of Europe.

 OTTAWA.—Canadian parents who have their children under 21 years of age may obtain citizenship certificates for their children for only $1 each.

The child must be under 21 and then obtain a certificate. He will have to pay the regular fee of $5.

Under the old naturalization act, when a man took out naturalization papers the names of his children were included and they automatically became Canadian citizens.

Certificate Permanent
 The new arrangement each child may get a certificate of citizenship for $1 and this will hold him for the rest of his life.

For all persons, other than children, the cost of a certificate of citizenship is $5.

The only person who does not really need to obtain one in order to prove his status as a Canadian is the person who has taken out naturalization papers. These papers indicate that he is a naturalized Canadian and as such entitled to all privileges granted under the new citizenship act.

In the case of a British-born Canadian who has become a Canadian citizen, he may obtain a certificate of citizenship for $1 and this will hold him for the rest of his life.

The British subject who does not yet have domicile in Canada, without the meaning of the act must be in Canada for one year before making application.

Canadians-born should obtain certificates as they will find them useful in travelling.

Farm Women Back Protest Against High Living Costs

More than 10 women delegates to the Alberta Farmers Union convention, have unanimously endorsed a resolution passed by the Edmonton Housewives' League, urging the federal government to increase strict price controls and subsidize milk to the extent that it can be sold to the public at 10 cents per quart. The endorsement took place at a special luncheon meeting held by the women delegates in the kitchen of the hotel where they were staying. In addition, the delegates agreed to carry petition forms to their various constituencies to be signed by other farm women in their districts, in order to strengthen the appeal to the government.

First speaker at the luncheon meeting was Mrs. Rose Samson, representative of the Edmonton Housewives' League, who spoke of the need for women's organization to take a united stand in fighting the increased living costs. Mrs. Samson said that her organization has been successful in securing reductions in the cost of many necessities, and that she was hoping to see similar results in other districts.
